Department of Children, Youth and Families

Policy: 400.0000

Effective Date: August 16, 2010

Revised Date: December 9, 2011

Version: 2

The Department of Children, Youth and Families (DCYF) provides training opportunities to help employees develop and enhance knowledge and skills needed to provide quality services to children, youth and families. In compliance with RIGL 42-72-5 (b) (10), the Department has established a minimum level of twenty (20) hours of training per calendar year for employees. Employees at the RI Training School are also required to participate in professional development activities in accordance with American Correctional Association (ACA) and Correctional Education Association standards for accreditation. The Department's professional development and training program supports employees in meeting federal standards and accreditation requirements. The professional development and training program is based on needs assessments which take into account training surveys, operational requirements, new developments in the field and changing needs of children, youth and families. The Department encourages staff to take advantage of continuing education and professional development opportunities offered by local, state, professional and educational organizations. On going evaluation ensures that the Department's training and professional development activities meet the needs of employees and the families we serve.

Divisional administrator or designee ensures that the employee participates in training appropriate to job functions and that such participation is recorded in the Department's Rhode Island Children's Information System (RICHIST). The immediate supervisor and his/her immediate supervisor review each subordinate's training needs quarterly to ensure participation in a minimum of twenty (20) hours of training.

Procedure from Policy 400.0000: Training and Professional Development

- A. A variety of training opportunities are available to meet DCYF training requirements.
1. Department affiliated training may include:
    - a. Orientation, which is provided to clerical/support staff, with topics, content and duration appropriate to classifications.
    - b. Core Curriculum, which is provided to investigative, social service and supervisory staff in Family Services, Child Protective Services and Juvenile Probation.
    - c. Curricula provided to RI Training School employees to meet ACA and Correctional Education Association Standards.
    - d. On going training identified by the Department to assist employees in meeting responsibilities associated with their classifications.
    - e. Workshops, seminars or other training opportunities to assist employees in meeting responsibilities associated with their classifications.
    - f. Incentive credits which are accessed in accordance with RI Department of Administration procedures. One-half (1/2) incentive credit equals fifteen hours towards the Department's minimum training requirement.
  2. College courses may partially fulfill annual training requirement.
    - a. College courses are taken during non-working hours and will not be compensated via overtime hours and/or special time off.
    - b. College courses taken during educational leave in accordance with contractual agreements are applicable in this policy.
    - c. A three (3) credit course fulfills the Department's training requirement.
    - d. College courses may also be eligible for Incentive Credit with prior approval from the Office of Training and Development in the Department of Administration.
  3. Workshops and Conferences offered by organizations not affiliated with the Department may partially fulfill the training requirement.
    - a. Sixty (60) days prior, an explanation of the event's goals and objectives, relationship to DCYF functions and information on classes of positions that would benefit is routed to the Director, through the chain of command, for approval.
    - b. A posting describing the event is developed by the Department's Training Unit and indicates when and where the event will be held, the number employees who can be accommodated and information of registration procedures.
    - c. Any employee wishing to attend a conference, workshop, training program, lecture or other educational forum submits a written request, which indicates any costs to the state, to his/her supervisor prior to the event.
    - d. The supervisor seeks the approval of the administrator.
    - e. If any cost is anticipated, the administrator obtains approval from the divisional administrator.
    - f. The employee complies with state reimbursement regulations.
    - g. Administrative leave, special time off or compensation may be provided for attendance at educational programs, professional meetings, seminars or similar work-related activities through approval of the administrator.
- B. If the state provides support to the employee to attend a workshop or conference, either through reimbursements, compensation or granting of administrative leave, the Training Unit ensures that hours toward required training are documented in RICHIST.

- C. The supervisor is responsible for ensuring that each employee receives appropriate training.
1. The supervisor and worker periodically review the worker's training needs.
  2. Training needs are based partly on the worker's employment and educational history relative to the current needs of the Department.
  3. All training opportunities must be pre-approved as work related by the supervisor.
  4. Any disagreement between the worker and supervisor regarding what is considered work related is brought to the next person in the chain of command for a final determination.
  5. The supervisor will ensure adequate unit coverage to allow for training attendance for each worker.
  6. Accessibility to Department affiliated training opportunities is based on seniority rotation in each unit within a specific job classification.
    - a. Once a staff member is selected by seniority to attend a training session, his/her name is placed at the end of the seniority list.
    - b. Seniority rotation is utilized when there is a scheduling conflict.
  7. For an employee who works non-standard hours, compensation will be provided to allow the worker to attend training during standard working hours in accordance with contractual agreements.
- D. A three (3) phase Core Curriculum of training has been developed for investigative, social service and supervisory staff.
1. Cores I and II (Orientation and Basic Skills) serve as an introduction to the general focus and operations of the Department and focus on the basic knowledge and skills necessary to perform individual job functions.
  2. Core III (Advanced Skills) is designed to refine the basic skills introduced in Core II and to help the employee develop more advanced job skills and job related knowledge.
  3. Core Curriculum seeks to build a unified culture throughout the Department while recognizing the specialized responsibilities of employees within the divisions.
    - a. Common topics include but are not limited to comprehensive assessment and service planning, understanding safety, risk and protective capacity and engagement and building healthy relationships.
    - b. Specialized topics include but are not limited to fundamental issues in public child welfare, professional writing for child welfare, juvenile probation and parole overview and case flow and restorative justice.
    - c. The Department utilizes staff evaluations of the training modules to assess the connection between classroom material and work in the field.
  4. A determination of training needs is based on an assessment of the education, prior training experience and classification of the employee. For employees new to state service or new to the specific job function, mandatory training usually includes all of Core I. New employees as well as other Department staff are offered an opportunity to participate in Cores II and III of the Core Curriculum.
  5. The Employee receives a Certificate of Completion from the Training Unit and a copy of his/her Record of Core Curriculum when all requirements for Core I have been met.
  6. Upon completion of the Core Curriculum, the employee is encouraged to attend additional training events, as needed and available, to increase or enhance his/her professional knowledge and skills and to meet minimum annual standards for training and professional development.
- E. Within the RI Training School, the Superintendent or designee ensures that a staff development and training program is planned, coordinated and evaluated by a qualified supervisory employee.
1. The Training Program is described in a Training Plan that is updated annually and:

- a. Describes pre-service, in-service and specialized training curricula appropriate to all classifications of staff within the Division.
