REV:04/2010

The maximum excess shelter deduction is four hundred and fifty-nine dollars ($459.00) per household per month for households incurring shelter costs.

1038.25 GROSS AND NET INCOME ELIGIBILITY STANDARDS

REV:04/2010

The gross or net income eligibility standards for the household size are used to determine the household's eligibility according to the characteristics of the household.

To determine eligibility for households containing a member(s) who is elderly or disabled, or a disabled veteran or surviving disabled spouse/child(ren) of a veteran, the adjusted net monthly food stamp income of the household, computed in accordance with the instructions in Section 1010, is compared to the maximum net monthly income limits for the appropriate household size in Table II, below.

To determine eligibility for all other households (with the exception of households that are categorically eligible based on receipt of a TANF-funded service (the RI Department of Human Services TANF Informational Publication):

First, compare the total gross monthly income of the household to the one hundred thirty percent (130%) maximum gross monthly income limit for the appropriate household size in Table I, below;

Second, compare the total net monthly income of the household (after appropriate deductions) to the maximum net monthly income limit for the appropriate household size in Table II, below.

To determine eligibility for the elderly and disabled applying for separate household status, compare the gross monthly income of all the others in the household to the one hundred sixty-five percent (165%) maximum gross monthly income limit for the appropriate household size in Table III, below. Also, the elderly or disabled person/spouse is not to be considered a household member for this purpose. (Includes disabled veterans or surviving disabled spouse/child(ren) of a veteran (see definition in Section 1010.30.05).

To determine eligibility for households that are categorically eligible due to receipt of a TANF-funded service:

First, compare the total gross monthly income of the household to the one hundred and eighty five (185%) gross monthly income limit for the appropriate household size in Table IV, below;

Second, compare the total net monthly income of the household (after appropriate deductions) to the maximum net monthly income limit for the appropriate household size in Table II below.

To determine if an elderly household meets that criteria for categorical eligibility due to receipt of a TANF-funded service:

Compare the total gross monthly income of the household to the two hundred percent (200%) gross monthly income limit for the appropriate household size in Table V below.

- If the household's gross income is over two hundred percent of the gross income limit (Table V), the household does not meet the criteria for categorical eligibility and is subject to a resource test. The agency must then compare the total net monthly income of the household (after appropriate deductions) to the maximum net monthly income limit for the appropriate household size in Table II below to determine eligibility for SNAP benefits.
- If the household's gross income is at or below two hundred percent of the gross income limit (Table V), the household meets the criteria for categorical eligibility and is not subject to a resource test. The agency will then compare the total net monthly income of the household (after appropriate deductions) to the maximum net monthly income limit for the appropriate household size in Table II below in order to determine eligibility for SNAP benefits.
