III. Announcements:

Brown University – Daniel O'Mahony

John Hay Special Collections looking for head of Special Collections.

Shifting in Sciences Library. Clearing out five floors for non- library, though academic use.

Continuing renovations at the Rockefeller library.

Rhode Island College (RIC) – Rachel Carpenter

Massive weeding project Gov Docs likely to be in compact shelving.

2015 = 50th anniversary as depository library.

Two positions in Reference. One has been filled with a temporary non tenure position. The second (full-time continuing) search process underway; hope to fill by end of May.

Office of Library and Information Services (OLIS) – Chaichin Chen

OLIS is now part of the Division of Information Technology, which is part of the Digital Excellence Office in the Department of Administration. Thomas Guertin is the Chief Digital Officer.

The Delivery contract needs to be renewed, may run out of money.

The cost is high, there may be delivery problems for a while.

URI – Debbie Mongeau

Search for a new Dean of Libraries, interviews are underway.

URI is switching catalogs to Ex Libris.

Planning for reciprocal borrowing between URI and Brown.

Gov Docs will be on 3 levels.

State Library – Tom Evans

Christopher Fowler named new Chief Innovations Officer for the Office of the Secretary of State.

State Publications Clearinghouse – Greg Facincani

Greg trying to capture documents going to e- versions after going to PDF. Some appear to now be online only for example: the Directory of Municipal Officers, the Elderly Affairs 2014 Pocket Manual (The Rhode Island Guide to Services for Seniors and Adults with Disabilities) - Landlord tenant handbook –(2007 was the last one published and it was published online.) Though not much has changed in the Handbook some statutes have been updated) and the Rhode Island Owners Manual (Online and also available in print). Capitol television video on demand service at the General Assembly website. One can watch General Assembly hearings back to 2013.

IV. Old Business: There was no old business.

V. New Business: Debbie Mongeau brought up the committees meetings and attendance, etc. We meet 4 times per year but rarely get everyone. Should we look into changing the number of times we meet to “at least 2 times per year”

Tom raised teleconferencing possibility. The Open Meeting Law allows for conference calls, according to Tom Evans. There is teleconferencing capability in the Secretary of State's IT Division conference room at 148 West River Street. Tom Evans will check into the statutes to see about language changes to allow for meeting at least 2 times a year. We can discuss further at the next meeting.

Legislation would have to be drafted for the 2016 session. The Advisory Committee should review all statutes relating to the Clearinghouse for the next meeting.

Tom Evans reappointed Jennifer Eibel and Deborah Mongeau to the Advisory Committee.

The July 13th meeting will be at 148 West River location.

VI. Adjournment: The meeting adjourned at 3:20pm.

Respectfully submitted,

Rachel H. Carpenter
