At the request of H. Wright and agreement of Commission members, item # 4 was moved up on agenda.

RI Farm Bureau: request to discuss issue related to the State being able to change a contract after a farmer has sold development rights - H. Wright offered to the Commission congratulations on the recent closing of the 100th protected farm. He informed commission that the Farm Bureau requests that farmers approaching Commission regarding prospective sale of their development rights are informed that land use abutting their farms is subject to change and there is no guarantee that it will not. He offered the example of interdepartmental transfer of land between state agencies. Commission members spoke of goals of cooperation and sensitivity to best interests of farmers. There was discussion regarding the counseling of farmers seeking to sell development rights about the pros, cons and ramifications of doing so. Current overhead commitments (appraisals and survey) total $85,000.

South Kingstown Land Trust/Weeden Farm (Matunuck Schoolhouse Road, South Kingstown): request to swap land under ALPC Development Rights for abutting land owned by the Union Fire District.

Action was deferred until April meeting. South Kingstown Land Trust will attend April meeting to present request. Commission members asked whether land swap would be precedent setting. Attorney General's Office would likely have to weigh in.

Status update of farms in negotiation:

Rippin: 100 Lafayette Road, North Kingstown – J. Reiner informed Commission that a Class 1 survey for the property has been completed. A forest management plan and the baseline documentation report have been completed and are under NRCS review. The Land Conservancy of North Kingstown assisted the town with the baseline documentation report and URI drafted the forest management plan. An updated appraisal will be completed soon. NRCS is preparing the Conservation Plan. Closing is anticipated by summer.

Hibbad: 273 Puncatest Neck Road, Tiverton – M. Sheehan presented appraisal to land owners. They have yet to respond.

Scoring new applications

DiMeo Farm: 396 Greenville Avenue, Johnston – The farm was scored by the commission and achieved an average score of 35.1

Bux property: 378 Greenville Avenue, Johnston - The farm was scored by the commission and achieved an average score of 25.

As the minimum score for acceptance into the program is 35, M. Neale made a motion seconded by F. Strongin to accept the DiMeo Farm into the program. The motion passed unanimously.

Farmland Bond/Acquisition Program: update on creation of rules and regulations

M. Sheehan informed Commission that DEM staff has been working to develop rules and regulations to administer new program. Following a review of the existing statutory language of the Farmland Preservation Act minor changes will need to be implemented to ensure all bond funds administered by this program are dedicated for farmland preservation purposes. The proposed new language states: “Any land received as a gift may be resold by the Commission with the development rights retained by the state and so noted by covenant in the deed. Any such resale by the Commission shall not be subject to the prior right of first refusal by the prior owner, their heirs, successors and assigns and the second right to purchase by the municipality in which the land is situated as provided by R. I. Gen. Laws Sections 37-7-3 and 37-7-5. The proceeds from the sale shall be returned to the Agricultural Land Preservation Fund.”

NRCS Agricultural Conservation Easement Program: update on application deadline and new rules

M. Kenyon informed Commission that new rules have been issued and a national press release will be out in early April. NRCS RI office will hold a training workshop in April.

Changes to the ACEP-ALE program include the option to include NRCS minimum deed terms to DDR. This can then be reviewed in RI and not subjects to national review.

Update on the 100th Protected Farm celebration planning – The date of event will be April 16th at 10:30. Events will include a visit to Lial Farm and speaking program at Hope & Main culinary business incubator in Warren.
